Historical Background:
In the aftermath of bias related violence that took place in Howard Beach and other parts of the state, The New York State Governor’s Task Force on Bias Related Violence was formed by New York Governor Mario Cuomo by signing Executive Order 90 on February 6, 1987. The task force was charged to research and study bias related incidents and the response to them throughout New York State. It was further charged to present recommendations related to education, law enforcement and legislation, which it presented in a final report, published in 1988.

Brief Description of the Records:
These records were created during the course of work of that committee. The files include transcripts of public hearings that took place throughout the state in 1987-1988 and executive hearings in the summer of 1987 (boxes 1-2). The bulk of the collection consists of research files of publications and reports on bias related violence, targeted groups and programs throughout the country. Also in these files is information on bias related incidents as well as surveys made of district attorneys from several New York Counties.
